Office: MIAMI, FLORIDA

Date: JAN 24 2005

IN RE:

Applicant:

APPLICATION:

Application for Certificate of Citizenship under section 320 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1431.

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT:

SELF-REPRESENTED

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the District Director, Miami, Florida, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The record reflects that the applicant was born on June 14, 1984, in Honduras. The applicant's mother [REDACTED] was born in Honduras and she became a naturalized U.S. citizen on February 25, 2003, when the applicant was eighteen years old. The applicant's father [REDACTED] was born in Honduras and he is not a U.S. citizen. The applicant seeks a certificate of citizenship pursuant to section 320 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1431.

The director concluded that the applicant had failed to establish she was under the age of eighteen when her mother became a naturalized U.S. citizen, as required by section 320 of the Act. The application was denied accordingly.

On appeal, the applicant states that she "[f]iled the wrong application (N-600) instead of N-400." The applicant makes no other assertions on appeal.

8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(v) states in pertinent part:

(v) Summary dismissal. An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

The AAO finds that the applicant failed to identify any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact in her appeal. The appeal will therefore be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.
